We're looking for a Creative Front-End Developer to join our digital team here at Clevercherry. As a Creative Front-End Developer, you will take full responsibility for your own projects from start to finish.

The Agency

We are an award-winning, ever-expanding, independent integrated agency with a great mix of accounts, both long-standing and new. We create outstanding work and are continuing to win exciting new accounts with a number of regional and national brands. We have a cracking office that's well positioned in central Birmingham, however, were currently splitting our time in between remote and office working.

What We Do

Within the digital team here at Clevercherry, our projects can range anywhere from small brochure sites to enterprise-size eCommerce systems. This means working in a fast-paced environment and simultaneously on multiple projects with strict deadlines.

Responsibilities of the role:

- Designing interfaces as well as creating a range digital assets
- Planning out user journeys, and making key UX decisions
- Full ownership of digital projects' front-end design and development
- Optimising existing user interface designs
- Building websites by writing reusable, testable, and efficient code using the Bootstrap framework
- Providing support and knowledge to the wider development team, as well as helping with bug fixes
- Browser and device testing
- Project setup and deployment
- Maintenance of legacy clients
- Occasionally attending meetings with clients

Essential Web Dev Skills:

- Strong HTML, CSS, JavaScript/jQuery skills
- Strong knowledge of Bootstrap framework
- Previous experience with Command Line Interface
- Previous experience with GIT or other version control software
- Previous experience with Webpack and NPM
- Familiarity with Laravel Framework

Essential Design Skills:

- Ability to plan, wireframe and design web products from brief
- Experience with design software; Adobe XD/Figma, Adobe Photoshop, Adobe Illustrator,
- UX knowledge; planning out user journeys, and making key UX decisions
- Creating low and high-fidelity prototypes
- Up-to-date with latest trends, design techniques, and technologies

General Skills:

- Creative and effective problem solver. Ability to justify your decisions and present your opinions with confidence
- Comfortable attending meetings with clients

Desirable:

- Experience with Shopify/Wordpress
- Basic Database knowledge
- Video creation experience

About You

Excellent opportunity for a talented Front-end Creative Developer with a flair for design looking to join a growing, sought-after agency with a reputation for delivering beautiful web and mobile products.

We are looking for someone who has experience in crafting pixel-perfect designs through planning and research, as well as building them in HTML, CSS and JavaScript, creating readable, manageable code.

Ideally, you'll have commercial experience from working in agency previously, although this is not essential.

Communication, attitude and personality are also important to this role. At any one time you could be working with multiple internal account managers and therefore, you will need to be adaptable to what is happening on any given day. Our coding approach is all about simplicity and creating readable, manageable code.
